Its fabulous range of single malt whiskies alone has made it one of the best known and respected distilleries in Scotland. The quality of its wares is world-renowned and the superlative blend of quality and taste is matched only by its legendary reputation. The 13-year-old and 16-year-old whiskies are also among the world's finest distilleries. Here we present Macallan's 14, 15 and 17-year-old single malts. To my mind, this range is one of the best ever produced. I've been fortunate to have had a large part of this range over the past couple of years and it's certainly a fabulous whisky collection. With these 14, 15 and 17-year-old bottlings I'm very proud of the overall quality that has been attained. Although the latter two are bottled at much higher levels than the former, I'm always extremely satisfied with the difference in taste and quality between the three. The quality and taste is consistent from bottling to bottling with a delicate peatiness to the palate with each sip of the 13-year-old. The whisky is smooth and light with a rounded body and a mellow sweetness to the finish where the characteristic peatiness of the 17-year-old is very evident. The higher level of sweetness and softness in the 15-year-old is a pleasure to drink with an interesting, fruity aroma and taste with the peat characteristic of the 17-year-old still prevalent. The combination of these three and the slight, lingering sweetness, is definitely a treat. The price of the bottlings has been adjusted to reflect the 82157476af
